

Review of Jeneve's First album as it appears in the Fall, 2014, edition of
The Western Way magazine:

JENEVE ROSE MITCHELL

Rocky Mountain

Hillbilly Girl

It's enthusiasm with a capital "En" on this release from WMA Youth Chapter member Jeneve Rose Mitchell.

She sings and plays all instruments (guitar, cello, banjo, fiddle & bass), then she recorded and mastered herself. It certainly shows her capability as an artist and multi-instrumentalist. Budget allowing, she now needs to move on to a professional producer & engineer.

Included are her novelty yodel "Ragtime Granny" (written for the WMA Yodel Contest) and her and her dad's Harmony Award winning treatment of "Cool Water." Picks among the originals are her "Cowboy Singing the Cowgirl Blues" and her uncle Jay Neal's "Colorado Skies."

Crediting note: "Colorado Trail" is now known to have been written by James A. Bliss (not Carl Sandburg & Lee Hayes) and Alan J. Lerner co-wrote "Mariah" with Frederick Loewe. Thirteen tracks.
